GLENDALE SANITARIUM ANNOUNCES $350,000 BUILDING PLANS

MERCHANTS FILE PROTEST BEFORE COUNCIL TO SPECIAL TAX SOUGHT TO CLEAR UP MUNICIPAL DEFICIT

Number of Business Men Say Proposed Legislation Is Unfair and Urge That Entire Community Share in Financial Burden

REPRESENTATIVES of various business interests and civic organizations appeared at the meeting of the city council last night and protested against a proposed ordinance providing for "licensing and regulating the carrying on of certain professions, trades, callings and occupations" in Glendale. In brief, those opposing the ordinance declared that it was discriminative; that it would force the business interests to pay a special tax; that it would call for an unwarranted intrusion into the personal affairs of those it reached; that it would be but a temporary relief measure; that the entire city should be assessed, instead of a small portion. At the conclusion of the hearing the ordinance was introduced by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson and it will come up for passage, it was stated, next Thursday night.

Discussion brought out the fact that Councilman S. A. Davis is opposed to the ordinance—and has been since it was first taken up by the council in the committee of the whole. Other members of the council did not announce how they stand toward the measure, but all united in saying they wanted the views of the business interests and, too, were seeking constructive legislation that would be of benefit to the city and help meet the deficit present in the expense of conducting the municipal government.

This deficit was declared at last night's meeting to be about $2000 a month. It was explained, however, that the present administration "inherited" a deficit of about $10,000.

Suggests Income Tax

After the council adjourned and in an informal discussion, Councilman Stephenson stated that the idea had just occurred to him that, perhaps, the financial problem of the city might be solved by a form of income tax.

"Not a complicated system like the state and federal government," said Councilman Stephenson," but a simple one that would reach throughou tthe city and find both active and inactive persons.

"Also, the suggestion has just been made to me that we raise the light and water rates. This, however, does not appeal to me at present."

The discussion opened by Mayor Robinson stating that the license ordinance was before the council for examination. He said that the city was facing a deficit of about $2000 a month and must take some action to increase the revenues.

"But we don't want to work a hardship on anyone," Mayor Robinson continued. "Painters and plumbers have suggested to us that we should have a license ordinance to keep transients out of the city—to protect our own business men who have capital invested and rent and other overhead to meet.

Need More Policemen

"The police department must be kept up; we must have the money to do it. More policemen are needed, for we are now a city nearing 30,000 people.

"We have attempted to regulate bus lines operated by oil stock selling concerns. It has been suggested that we extend the protection to other lines of business in Glendale and keep out those who have no money invested here and who are in unfair competition with our merchants."

At this point Councilman A. H. Lapham declared:

"I notice, mayor, that you have stressed painters and plumbers. I want to call your attention to this section of the ordinance, which reads: 'For every person, firm or corporation conducting, managing or carrying on any business, whether as a merchant, manufacturer or otherwise, not otherwise specifically licensed by other sections of this ordinance, the gross annual receipts of which business amount to less than $5000, $12 per year; $6000 and less than $20,000, $30 per year; $20,000 and less than $50,000, $50 per year; $50,000 and over $100 per year.' I just wanted to call that to the attention of those present."

Councilman Davis then announced that a deficit of about $10,000 had been received from the previous administration.

"I want to point out," Councilman Lapham stated, "that we have sixteen men in our police department, including the chief. Of these, nine walk beats in eight-hour shifts. You can readily see what kind of police protection is being offered the city—and it's the best we can provide in our financial condition."

C. E. Neale declared that the ordinance as proposed was a direct tax against the business men of the city. He declared that it was discriminative and that he strongly opposed it.

"If the present tax rate is too low to raise sufficient revenue to conduct the municipal affairs of Glendale, raise the tax rate," declared Mr. Neale. "Put the burden on the entire city—not on a few of us."

Charter Sets Tax Rate

Mayor Robinson explained that the tax rate was set by the provisions of the city charter and that it would be impossible to increase it.

G. C. McConnell of the Builders Hardware & Supply company insisted that the ordinance was unjust and placed the financial burden on a few.

"If we have to raise more money, let all of the people bear the burden," he urged.

F. J. W. Henry of Henry-Brown company asked the question as to whether the ordinance provided that his firm, doing a country-wide business, would have to pay a tax on all of that business or just what was done in Glendale.

Bert P. Woodard, city attorney, answered that he would have to pay on the amount of business transacted in Glendale only.

"And we will have to hire an extra bookkeeper to keep track of it," commented Mr. Henry. "We expect to erect a big plant some day and I want to know about this ordinance—it may have some bearing on where we build."

Dr. Harrower Protests

George Sutton announced he came from the Progressive Business men's association and then he read the following communication, addressed to the council, signed by Dr. Henry R. Harrower:

"In view of the fact that I have a meeting of physicians tonight to celebrate the completion of our fourth year of service I can not attend the council meeting at which I understand the matter of securing additional funds for the city's needs through a "business tax" is to be considered.

"I am opposed to even the thought of a business tax for several reasons which occur to me:

"First—It is discriminative. Why should the business men of Glendale support the city in a special manner, and pay more than their share of the cost of activities which are of benefit to all others living here and who are securing equal benefit from the services and improvements, but who do not happen to be in active business. The retired man gets just as much good out of the city as an act-

PERMIT FOR CITY'S AUTO BUS LINE IS NOT GRANTED

L. A. Board of Utilities Turns Down Request; Mass Meeting to Discuss Situation

Glendale's application for a bus permit was denied yesterday afternoon by the Los Angeles Board of Public Utilities.

A mass meeting to discuss the situation will be held tomorrow night in the auditorium of Glendale Union High school.

The session of the board was attended by City Manager W. H. Reeves, Councilman S. A. Davis and Municipal Traffic Expert C. D. Gulick.

A. T. King, chairman of the board, had no comment.

John S. Kennedy stated that he would be more favorably disposed toward granting the permit provided a majority of the citizens of Glendale would carry the bond issue.

W. L. Leeds said that he would have been more favorable to the application if it had specified that the bus line would enter Los Angeles on San Fernando Road.

"He ignored the real issue of the situation," commented Mr. Gulick. "It was entirely within the province of the board to tell us what streets we could traverse. It refused to do that, preferring to put us in the place of having to amend the application and go through an expensive time-consuming procedure."

Report Is Unfavorable

An unfavorable report by H. Z. Osborn, engineer for the board, was one of the arguments which militated against the interests of Glendale, according to Mr. Gulick. He stated that this had been based upon figures submitted by the Pacific Electric.

"This showed 1100 persons standing up in the cars in one day," he remarked. "In the face of that the board denied that the service out here is inadequate.

"It further denied the city of Glendale the right to operate over any of the so-called business streets, ignoring the streets of the 'jitney ordinance,' passed by the majority of the citizens of Los Angeles. In other words, they denied us the privilege of going in on Figueroa or any of those streets."

Official written denial of the application for a bus permit has not been received by the city administration. Mr. Gulick stated that he had not even been permitted the courtesy of a copy of the rebuttal brief submitted by the Pacific Electric.

Unfair Competition

"I believe that the establishing of the line so as to parallel the Pacific Electric for the entire distance is unfair competition," declared Commissioner Leeds. "I believe that the parallelling of the existing means of transportation will seriously interfere if not retard or destroy the possibility of building the proposed tunnel."

Commissioner Kennedy stated: "I don't think this is the time to cripple any public utility privately or publicly operated. This is particularly true of railroad public utilities. I have always been of the opinion that bus lines should be confined to sections where transportation is needed and not parallel existing means of transportation. I am also very much disappointed at the rate fixed by the railroad commission charged the people who travel to Glendale. I don't think it is fair to them."

H. S. Webb to Build Attractive Court Shops

Something new, or is the idea centuries old, will soon be seen in the business district of Glendale.

H. S. Webb, of the department store bearing his name, is having the architectural department of the R. L. Kent Company prepare plans for a one-story court shop building covering his lot at 211-213 East Broadway, 50 by 120 feet.

According to James W. Pearson, realtor who has offices over the boulevard branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, there will be thirteen tenants accommodated in this unique store building, the architecture of which will follow old Italian lines with a cement courtyard, tile roof, etc.

A pergola running through the center of the court will have comfortable seats for tired shoppers while comfort stations and drinking fountains will be conveniently placed. It will be one of the most novel establishments of its kind in southern California, it is said.

Santa Monica and Monrovia also have court shops which are in much demand by little shop keepers or professional people. Women's specialty stores, millinery shops, haberdasheries, art shops, studios, candy stores, etc., find such a combination suitable to their business, Mr. Pearson states.

B. P. WOODARD RESIGNS AS CITY ATTORNEY; HARTLEY SHAW CHOSEN

Retiring Official to Establish Law Office Here; Letter Explains His Actions

Resignation of Bert P. Woodard as city attorney was last night accepted by the city council and Hartley Shaw, formerly city attorney, was unanimously chosen to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Woodard, it developed last night, on March 30 filed the following self-explanatory communication with Mayor Spencer Robinson and members of the city council:

"I hereby tender my resignation as city attorney for the city of Glendale.

"The city attorney is employed with the understanding that he shall have the right to engage in a private practice and at the same time discharge the duties of his office. I find that I cannot do this. It is impossible for me to keep up with the duties of the office without neglecting my private practice. The fact is, the position, at the present salary, together with the actual expenses incident to the duties of the office, has been a financial loss to me, and I cannot, as a business proposition, afford to deplete my private practice in order to hold the position.

Expresses Thanks

"My employment and association, especially with the members of the council themselves, has been extremely pleasant, and I thank each of you for the confidence you expressed in me by electing me to the position, and assure you that my reasons for resigning are financial and business reasons only.

"This matter has not been discussed with any member of the council prior to today, and my resignation may be in the nature of a surprise, and if you prefer to have me continue in the position until you

BUSINESS MEN OF EAST SIDE FORM ORGANIZATION

Association for Advancement Hears Paving Plans; Seeks Branch Postoffice

"The East Glendale Advancement Association" was the title adopted at yesterday's luncheon in the White Inn by members of the newly formed organization which has for its object the promotion of the interests of the intersection of Broadway and Glendale avenue and vicinity.

This name was recommended by P. J. Hayselton as spokesman for the name committee which also suggested "The East Glendale Improvement Club" and "The East Glendale Co-operative Improvement Association." Other members of this committee were C. F. Stuart of the Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway, and W. R. Vanderwood, secretary of the Fox-Woodsum Lumber Company, 714 East California avenue.

The paving of Glendale avenue between San Fernando road to Lexington drive was brought up by Mr. Stuart, who called for volunteers to present petitions to the property owners for signatures. He suggested that the signed petitions be presented next Thursday night to the city council and that the proceedings be rushed forward as rapidly as legally consistent. He stated that the type of paving had been left to the city council and that he had been informed by City Engineer C. L. Hill that the cost would amount to about $350 for a 50 foot lot and that the property owners would have three years to meet the assessments.

Harry Levey Objects

"I don't want to start in as an obstructionist, but I am going to spike your gun right now," declared Attorney Harry Levey of 811 South Glendale avenue, president of the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association.

"It strikes me that you are working too fast. Until the railroad is off Glendale avenue, your proposition is absolutely absurd. Glendale avenue needs many things before it needs paving, although I will admit that some portions of the paving are

NEW LOCATION IS IN FOOTHILLS; PROPERTY ON EAST BROADWAY TO BE SOLD FOR BUSINESS BLOCKS

Health Plant on East Wilson and Running on Through to Sycamore Canyon Road, Will Be Second Only to Battle Creek Institution

WITH the approval yesterday in probate court of the sale of the Dodge property on East Wilson avenue, C. E. Kimlin, business manager of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, this morning made public preliminary details of a building program calling for the expenditure of $350,000 or more by the combined conferences of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

The present hospital plant, which is new, will be maintained for surgical work and to serve the city of Glendale as an emergency institution but the old sanitarium building on Broadway will make way for business blocks and it is expected that more than $100,000 will be realized from the sale of this frontage.

Mr. Kimlin this morning stated that the church officials had considered the sanitarium located on Broadway as an impediment to progress, but they had been unable to obtain the property desired in the outskirts of the city until two about months ago when Dr. G. Kaemmerling secured an option for them.

Then when the "coast was clear" for materializing the dreams of years, it was necessary first to get the Southern California conference, the Pacific Union conference and the General conference committees together and this was finally accomplished with Elder A. G. Daniels, president of the church, and Elder W. T. Knox, general treasurer, among those attending the sessions.

Next to Battle Creek

"When the new sanitarium is built it will be the most representative institution of its kind on the Pacific coast," Mr. Kimlin said, "and it will be second only to Battle Creek in the United States. The site we have obtained is the most ideal spot in Southern California, facing as it does on East Wilson avenue and running through to Sycamore canyon road. It comprises twenty acres of rolling foothill property, admirably adapted from the standpoint of altitude, scenic view and accessibility."

The main building will be 400 feet long, 42 feet wide and four stories high. It will be of concrete and hollow tile fireproof construction and have several wings to the rear for dining room, kitchen, laundry, hydro-therapy departments, etc. The estimated cost is $250,000 for the building, $50,000 for equipment and $50,000 for the site.

To Draw Preliminary Plans

W. E. Whalen, architect, has been employed to draw the preliminary sketches and present the proposition to the conference committees and the constitutency of the church in Southern California, and their approval of the general idea is confidently expected.

Conservatively speaking, it is the largest enterprise ever undertaken in this city, outside of public schools, and the officials hope to have the project complete by the fall of 1923, or fifteen months. This will give Glendale not only the hospital, but the Pacific portal of health that will stand unequalled and this city will bear the reputation in the west that Battle Creek has in the east.

"The patronage of the sanitarium has largely outgrown the present facilities," continued Mr. Kimlin, "and from ten to twenty patients have to be denied admittance to the institution every day because of lack of room. It was thought that the new hospital unit would relieve the congestion, but the patronage has grown proportionately with Southern California."

Glendale Hi-Y Is Again State Winner

The Glendale Hi-Y has carried off the state honors by winning for the third time the state banner. This is a prize competed for each month by the eighty Hi-Y clubs of California and is awarded to the club having the best monthly program of activities.

The Hi-Y of Glendale is the only group that has won this banner three times. The Porterville Hi-Y of San Joaquin valley is the closest competitor, having won it two times. The banner came to Glendale in December and January, San Diego Hi-Y taking it away from here for the month of February, but having to relinquish its claim to the local group for the month of March.

Some of the activities of the group that figured in the awarding of this honor were: Contributing funds to foreign boys' work; conducting Sunday church services; playing basketball games; giving evening's entertainment to parents, and their splendid work in the recent Christian Calling conference held here.

The coming "father and sons" banquet for April 18, a trip to the George, Jr. Republic, which is a boys' school at Chino, and vacation camping trips are some of the plans for the month of April.

The local Hi-Y is under the leadership of Howard Butterfield, G. E. Murphy, P. L. Hatch, Bert Rolf and Carl Seitter.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell Gives Turkey Dinner

Mrs. Daniel Campbell of North Highland avenue entertained with a turkey dinner at her home last night in honor of Miss Alice Frank, who is soon to become the bride of Harry A. James. Those present included Miss Alice Frank, Mrs. Harriett Fox Frank, Harry A. James, Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Miss Kathleen Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

A bowl of peach blossoms decorated the table, and on the branches of these were little blue birds. The place cards were of little brides and bridegrooms. A very pleasant social evening followed the dinner.

Mrs. J. D. Rathbun Is Hostess Behalf Sister

Mrs. J. D. Rathbun of 423 West Colorado street was hostess last night at a party given in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her sister, Mrs. B. W. Crowe, of Los Angeles. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Crowe and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brown of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. Staley of Denver, and Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Conklin of Glendale. A color scheme of yellow was carried out in the menu at dinner, and also in the floral decorations. After dinner the evening was spent in playing cards.

Did You See Things? Yes, It Is Jinx Day

This is Jinx Day at Glendale Union High school. The spirit of the mardi-gras prevailed there in the annual school day masquerade carnival.

Interest in the occasion culminated at noon with a big serpentine parade in which an impossible attempt was made by spectators to select those wearing the most grotesque costumes.

Dignified seniors are vying with unsophisticated freshmen in rivalry. Members of the faculty are disguised also. All colors of the rainbow prevail in the garish costumes. Vivid pinks and sparkling greens are conspicuous.

The style in anatomy tended toward the bizarre. Girls who have been wearing short dresses are seen in "carpet sweepers"; girls who have been wearing shoe-top dresses are now at large in ballet skirts. Ears are noticeable as well as knees, for the first time in a long while. That is, the ears. Face powder, or rather flour, was very evident and the artistry of lipstick and grease paint showed the effects of careful make-up.

Socialibitly prevailed throughout the school. Newly arrived immigrants chatted with colonial dames on a basis of perfect equality, entirely disregarding the New England blue book. J. P. Morgan had a conference with members of the I. W. W. and Bolshevist organiations, who protested against school in general. A lad wearing an army blanket and carrying a wash-boiler lid for a shield advertised the fact that he was a "Knight of the Bath." Dudes fraternized with cowboys and country girls learned the secrets of the chorus.

Who had the best costume? Ask the jinx.

Postmaster Jackson Has Them at Bargain

Word from Paris that a record price has been paid for a rare postage stamp doesn't worry Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson here.

He wonders why a person should invest 300,000 francs for the famous Ferari 1-cent 1856 carmine British Guiana stamp when he has 300,000 stamps in a local bank vault he is willing to sell for 1 cent each.

MRS. C. PUTNAM HOSTESS

The members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club were entertained at luncheon at the home of Mrs. Claude Putnam, 424 North Glendale avenue, Wednesday of this week. Decorations of blue iris and yellow daffodils were used. Club members present included Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Wallace Walker, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Charles Carroll, Mrs. Robert Pease of Los Angeles, Miss Alma Miess, Mrs. E. E. East and Mrs. Claude Putnam. High score was made by Mrs. Walker, who was awarded a blue condiment set.

HEY, SLIM! CIRCUS IS HERE! GOSH! IT'S GOOD ONE!

Tents Pitched at Park Avenue and San Fernando Road; Many Wild Animals

Circus day! Circus day!
Whaddaya say about circuses?

Here as advertised, tents pitched at Park avenue and San Fernando road, parade passed through city streets at noon—

It's Howe's circus and Van Amberg's wild animal shows, the consolidation of several of the greatest entertainments of their kind, including the menagerie of the Sheesley Shows which were here last year.

Arriving in three special trains on the Southern Pacific early today, the circus soon had its canvas city erected and by the time this is read their afternoon performance will be well under way. The parade was better and brighter than usual, with an excellent band and lots of wild animals.

Owned by Californians

Howe's circus and Van Amberg's wild animal shows are owned by Californians—Michael Golden, Milt Runkle and Charles Adams of the Bay Cities having consolidated their interests and incorporated a half a dozen other circuses under the banner of these famous circus names.

Charles T. Boulwaire, who built up the Al G. Barnes show and is known as the youngest circus executive in America, is in personal charge of the show. He takes especial interest in the staging of the grand opening spectacle as well as the kaleidoscopic change of acts, from the clowns to the trained animals.

Remember, tonight is your only opportunity to see the circus now. Everybody out with the kiddies. The Howe show is the first to reduce the price of general admission to 50 cents since the war, it is said.

Tuesday Club's Next Program Is Arranged

The program for the next meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club, to be held April 11 at Masonic temple, will be given by Zillah Ernestine Withrow, with Alice Spencer Rand as accompanist. This will include pantomimes, interpretative poses, whistling solos and readings. Zillah Withrow has made several successful tours in this country, including an engagement with the English Opera company. Her interpretative poses include the signs and symbols of many ancient religious rites.

Local Shirt Factory Names Representatives

Fred O. Thompson of Long Beach also was in the city getting a sample line from which he will sell "made to measure" shirts in his home city and the harbor district.

Glendale Heights Lets Street Work Contract

Contracts were let yesterday by the Haddock-Nibley company for street work on their Glendale Heights tract in the southern section of the city, Peter L. Ferry being the man who will do the work. This job includes the opening of Adams street south to the city limits, which follows the contour of the hills.

Lon J. Haddock, who was in Glendale yesterday, also announced that the 30 acres to the west of the present Glendale Heights subdivision had been added to the tract, giving this selling agency the entire cove with the possibilities of 350 homes. This may call for a business section in that vicinity, he believes.

The Haddock-Nibley company has invested more than three-quarters of a million dollars in southern California property since the first of the year, having taken over Sunnyside Acres and Goldwyn Park in addition to developing Glendale Heights. They are placing the sale of the latter in the hands of several realtors here to push sales and five lots have ben sold to local investors in the last two days, Mr. Haddock states.

Mrs. Emma C. Batz Entertains on Birthday

Mrs. Emma C. Batz of 430 West Vine street entertained with a luncheon and "500" party in celebration of her birthday anniversary yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Jones. Suggestive of the Easter season floral decorations of jonquils were used, this motif also being carried out in the place cards, favors, ets.

The guests included Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr., Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Sr., Mrs. J. H. Hearnshaw, Mrs. Lilla Aicholz, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. R. Horner, Mrs. Chester Kling, Mrs. Bert Ward, Mrs. Harry Thimm, Mrs. Ed. Halstead, Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. Batz. High score was made by Mrs. Hearnshaw and second highest by Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr.

Among the visitors who were introduced and responded to toasts were Dr. Richardson McNaughton, Dr. James F. Belyea, Mr. Ragland, Dr. Bonthius, Dr. Johnson and Dr. Hogue of Pasadena, the latter describing the natural resources of Hawaii in an illustrated lecture.

The business session was confined to a discussion of the chicken dinner to be given to themselves by members of the Baraca and Philathea classes Thursday night. Among those prespent were Chalmers Day, H. O. Melone, Gordon Dippett, Harold Hoover, Cecil Percy, Roland Percy, Leslie Percy, Norman Ramseyer, Gideon Ramseyer, William Rich, Charles Rich, Ray Krohn, Edwin Murphy, Wilbur Perkins, Merle Wainright, Cyril Holway, Loren Schlotzhauser and Frank Butterfield.

Missionary Society Passes Resolution for Miss Midcalf

With a very good attendance, the Women's Home Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting yesterday at the First Methodist church.

A solo, "Lead Kindly Light," arranged by Parks, with the air from Jocelyn's Berceuse, sung by Mrs. W. W. Widdows, was a very beautiful number on the program.

Mrs. Margaret Locke Coates, of Los Angeles, president of the W. H. M. S. of the Southern California conference, was an interesting speaker on the home mission work in general, recalling the small way in which the home mission was first started, touching upon the wonderful growth of the organization, and the great amount of home mission work still waiting to be done. The program was arranged by the west side group of the society, which group is named in honor of Mrs. Locke.

At the close of the program, a short business session was held and a memorial to the late Miss Clara Midcalf was read, and a resolution passed to the effect that it be recorded in the minutes by the secretary, and also that it be given to the papers for publication.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church held a meeting in the morning and luncheon at noon. In the afternoon there was also a short business meeting at the church of the Foreign Missionary Society.

The resolution in tribute to Miss Midcalf follows:

"In the death of Miss Clara Midcalf the Women's Home Missionary Society has sustained a great loss. She was loved for her sunny, optimistic disposition.

"An outstanding trait was her loyalty to her country and her church. Clara Midcalf loved folks, especially young folks, and as leader of our Queen Esther girls, she gave her time and her loving counsel unstintedly. Her teaching and her lovely life will be a guide and an inspiration to these girls through all time.

"She did not spare herself if she found a useful work to do, as was shown in her work in the state home for girls at Ventura last summer.

"While she needed her vacation to build up her energy for her winter work, she took only a short vacation at the beach and then went to Ventura and took charge of a room of girls in the home.

"I understand the matron of this home came to the funeral. She said it was remarkable the change there was in the girls after she came and while they were under her wise and loving guidance. When friends reminded her that she should not have gone as she needed a rest, she replied, 'I feit I needed to do this work, and while it was not a happy place to be, I was glad to be there.'

"She was glad to be where she was needed. God needed her, He called to her to come and she is glad."

CERRITOS P.-T. A. MEETS

Stanley W. Sutton, probation officer of the Los Angeles Juvenile Court, was the principal speaker at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Cerritos Avenue Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. E. L. Adams is president, his topic being "The Adolescent Boy, His View and Ours." Preceding the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served. Miss Irene Eldred of Los Angeles, who returned from Asia Minor a few months ago, spoke on the Near East Relief. The remainder of the program included songs and recitations by the children of the A3 and B4 grades.

The first regular noon-day luncheon of the new Glendale Progressive Business club was held Thursday noon at the Glen Inn, with over twenty present, G. D. The club went on record as being against the proposed special, discriminating tax on Glendale business men proposed by the city council and several of the new members volunteered to be present at the next meeting of the council to object to the tax.

Dr. H. R. Harrower, E. B. Sutton, George M. Lindsay, Dr. Burt and others made interesting remarks. It was decided to have the final meeting of organization on Thursday evening, April 13, and to establish Friday as the weekly luncheon day.

Don Futhey Asserts This Is Some Speed

Automobile row is all excited today. Don Futhey of the Studebaker agency asks: "Do you remember when they used to speak of speed as going a mile a minute?

"Well, that isn't anything at all. I read in the papers this morning how Haughdahl did 180.27 miles in hour at Daytona, Fla., yesterday, which is more than three miles a minute and shatters all records for speed."

Business Men Of Glendale Make Protest to City Council Against Special Tax Laws

ive one and if a business tax were imposed, the retired man would get the benefit without paying, whereas, the business man would be asked to pay doubly—for himself and for the other fellow, who does not pay. As a matter of fact, the business men of Glendale are the ones most active in making our city, and aggressively furthering its interests.

Called Intrusion

"Second—It is an unwarranted intrusion upon the personal affairs of the business man—a business tax, especially of the character of the tax which has proved a signal failure in our sister city of Los Angeles (which I understand has been or is to be repealed) demands a statement of the finances of a business and while I admit that this information is disclosed to the United States government yet remotely situated government employes obviously can not be so concerned with personal business matters in the way that local officers would have to be in a comparatively small city.

"Third—It is a temporary expedient. Such a tax is an attempt to secure additional help during time of need and in a limited way. If the finances of the city demand additional taxation, and retrenhment, economy and planning are not accomplishing the desired ends, then let us have an equitable tax which will enable the entire city and every responsible inhabitant—property owners and otherwise—assist in the development of this fund.

"With assurances both of esteem and of respect, I remain,

"Very truly,

"HENRY R. HARROWER, M. D."

Taxation Against Few

Mr. Sutton, who is an automobile dealer, told how, in his opinion, the ordinance would be unjust and a taxation against a few, and then recited how the automobile business means, in many cases, the taking in of a used car in selling a new one. He showed how, in most instances, the deal was not a cash one and, with the heavy overhead of the automobile dealers, the ordinance would mean financial disaster.

Here Mayor Robinson, who deals in realty when not officiating as head of the municipality, said that a realty dealer also had, in many instances, to take in property on exchange with the result that a $50,000 deal might wind up in his getting a cheap lot as his part of the transaction.

A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, stated that he had been in business in Glendale for about nine years. He urged that recognition be given the claims of the business interests.

"The business man should not have to pay a special tax; he should be paid a premium for investing his money here, taking his chances with competition and doing his part in the upbuilding of the community," declared Mr. Cowan. "The business man should have protection. He deserves it. He is doing his best in good times and bad.

General Taxation

"If the city is short of funds, raise the revenue by general taxation; spread it over the entire community; don't levy a tax against a few who are striving to make a success in Glendale. I presume many of you here are having your experiences with the county assessor's representatives. Will the business men have anything left after the assessor's office gets through with them?"

At this point Councilman Davis let it be known that he is—and has been—against the ordinance.

"I admit that the city needs the money. But I claim that the measure is not worth all the dissatisfaction it is causing," declared Councilman Davis. "I hold that the business men of Glendale need no special laws to protect them. If they can not succeed in business on their own merit, then they ought not to be in business. I have gone against competition; I know what it is. I hold that if a man in business fears competition, he ought to get out. This ordinance will not receive my vote—and I'm not saying that because you men are here, for the other members of the council have known my stand from the start."

Urges Cut in Expenses

Frank Booth suggested that municipal expenses be cut. He said that salaries had been raised recently and he urged that the city manager be instructed to reduce expenses all along the line. He declared he was strongly opposed to the ordinance and pointed out the many burdens the business men have to bear, including high rents.

V. M. Hollister, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asserted that the ordinance was a rank injustice. He declared business houses were daily approached for expenditures of small sums and that the drain was heavy. He said that many firms were now paying for special police protection, removal of refuse and other incidentals and that another taxation—special as it is—was too much to stand without a protest. He said that a number of home builders in the city could erect houses and make a profit larger than many business firms and yet escape paying a city tax. He declared that was unfair.

"Let everybody pay," declared Mr. Hollister. "Why do you propose to tax a few of us who are already overtaxed? It is manifestly unfair."

Clean Competition

Harry Moore said he had been in Glendale about ten years and that he liked clean competition.

"I will pay this special tax provided you show me that the man who has no money invested and no heavy overhead to meet, yet can go about doing work, can be made to pay. He can easily avoid the tax, yet we business men must meet it, you say," asserted Mr. Moore. "I say that the revenue should be secured from the entire community."

H. E. Wilson of the Glendale Hardwood Flooring company proposed that the city "fire some of the 'dead ones' carried on the payroll." He declared that he had seen city employes sitting about doing nothing.

This statement caused Mayor Robinson to announce that he had at his own expense traveled about the city, to the neglect of his own business, and on his tours of observation had failed to observe any neglect of employes.

"Give me your telephone number, mayor, and I'll report the next case I observe to you," said Mr. Wilson.

There was some further discussion, one citizen suggesting that the city seemed to be in the position of the man who sheared the pig for wool and got only squeals. Another said that "vest pocket contractors" were harming legitimate business men by taking contracts that meant contracting debts.

Ordinance Introduced

The discussion closed when Mr. Hollister asked if the ordinance would be passed immediately. Mayor Robinson said it would not and Councilman Stephenson announced:

"I introduce the ordinance. It can now come up for passage next Thursday night."

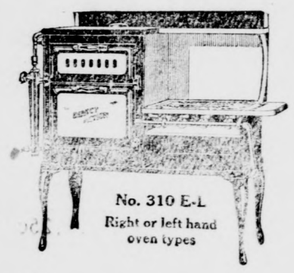
After the council adjourned, Councilman Stephenson, in an informal discussion, brought forward the suggestion that a municipal income tax might solve the financial difficulty. He also said that raising the light and water rates had been brought to his notice as a means of raising more revenue.

And so the matter stands, with Councilman Davis as the only member of the council who has, thus far, openly announced he would not vote for the ordinance when it comes before the meeting next Thursday night. How other members of the council will vote was not intimated at the meeting.

Meanwhile, the varied business interests of the city are making every effort to show that, in brief, the ordinance is discriminative, unjust to those instrumental in upbuilding Glendale, a means of intruding into private matters, and a measure that fails to touch the large majority of people within the city who should, it is pointed out, bear their share of the financial relief sought by the municipal officials.

Progress Is the Order Today

Well as old style ranges have served us, it was inevitable that something new would be invented overcoming the waste of gas, the rusting out, the constant pot watching and burning of foods.



Any salesman, who deliberately or ignorantly, sells you a range without first telling you of the wonderful advancement in a MODERN range, does you and his store a grave injustice.

CITY SEWER PLANT IS AGAIN UNDER CONSIDERATION

Should Glendale Go Ahead in Suggested Plans to Build Independent System

"There is a possibility that Glendale might arrange to come in on a new and greater outfall sewer," remarked Dr. William C. Mabry, of 210-A West Broadway, recently, as a member of the citizens' sewer committee.

"Let us hope so and let us remember that we will pay a very large sum for the privilege. It is certain that the existing Los Angeles outfall sewer, already inadequate, can never be used by Glendale," he continued.

"Would it not be well to have our own plant, anyhow? In any event, we would have to pay for our entire sewerage system. The disposal plant should always be held against the interruption of the outfall sewer. No part of the proposed system would become a loss in case of connection with the outfall sewer. The only additional cost would be that of switching from our own disposal plant to the new line. In the meantime our own plant would have cared for our needs and paid for itself by service.

"Los Angeles can no more prevent our sanitary disposal of sewage by methods and in a location approved by the State Board of Health than she can take away our domestic water.

Cannot Pay for Itself

"Sewage disposal cannot be made to pay for itself. It is much more likely to become a charge than even a partly paying proposition. Sewage cannot be treated or pumped without increased cost. However, Glendale must have a sewer system sooner or later—and must pay for whatever method is decided upon.

"The final and latest successful method of sewage disposal consists of large tanks and equipment for the treatment of sewage to reduce it to harmless and inoffensive liquid and dry solids. The activated sludge type owes one of its chief claims for favor to the fact that aeration robs the sewage of the property of becoming putrid. The solids may be converted into by-products such as grease, fertilizer and the liquid sold for irrigation purposes.

"Installation of such an activated sludge plant is not unduly expensive, does not require a farm, does not need a large tract of land, and is nearly inoffensive. It must be located wherever sewage can be taken by gravity flow. Density of population, proximity to public institutions and cost of ground must be taken into consideration in selecting the most feasible site. A committee of local engineers should be appointed to locate all possible sites where an adequate sewage disposal plant could be economically operated. A citizens' committee should then examine the report and select the two most feasible sites. The council should then decide upon the type of plant and probable cost, call a bond election and at the same time request the voters to express their preference of the two sites.

Cannot Obstruct Progress

"If there is only one site available, that must be chosen. If some interests must suffer, if some citizens must move, the injured should receive reasonable financial compensation, but not be permitted to obstruct progress. Sewage disposal cannot be absolutely free from objectionable features. Sewage disposal by any means must result in discomfort to some individuals—a few must suffer more or less for the sake of the entire community.

"Primitive methods lasted thousands of years. At present the major part of Glendale is sewaged by the elementary principle of cesspools. Cesspools should not be utilized except as make-shifts to cover emergencies. Some things can be said in favor of cesspools. Probably they are reasonably satisfactory from a standpoint of health. Bacterial polution from cesspools, as a rule, does not travel far.

"However, if seepage from cesspools enters an underground water channel, pollution may travel almost indefinite distances. It is also true that cesspools and wells cannot exist together with safety. A cesspool, however well built, is likely to cave in in wet weather and unless grease traps are installed the filtering walls of the cesspool rapidly clog, the hole fills up and cannot be repaired.

Septic Tank Favored

"The next step higher in the scientific disposal of sewage is the septic tank. Such an installation should be sufficient size to contain a week's sewage practically undisturbed. A septic tank is not unduly expensive and when properly built is reasonably efficient, should last indefinitely and is practically free from objectionable features.

"The objections to the septic tank are few. It must be used a month or so before efficient bacterial action is secured and odors prevented. Insoluble parts, such as grit, gradually collects upon the floor of the tank and must be removed. This renovation destroys the scum which has to reform before the tank is again efficient. During wet weather the ground becomes water-logged, seepage from irrigation is interfered with, percolation of water from the drain pipes may stop, bringing to the surface raw sewage.

"The next higher step in scientific sewage disposal is a combination septic tank with a cesspool. Such a battery properly installed and cared for should last indefinitely, be perfectly safe locally and is not unreasonably expensive.

"This arrangement is the one now being used in our business district. The septic tank cesspools meet an emergency with comparative satisfaction and safety, and in case a general sewer system is installed the units can be hooked up with the mains with no other economic loss than the cost of tanks and cesspools, no new individual plans, neither cesspools nor tanks should be allowed after the central disposal plant has been placed in commission."

Oldest Postoffice in U. S. at St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—This city has the oldest postoffice building in the United States, according to Postmaster Charles F. Hopkins, who has just completed two years of research in order to establish his claim.

Records in the "Archives of the Indies" at Seville, Spain, declares Hopkins, shows that the structure he now occupies was erected some time between 1568 and 1603 by Gonzalo Mendez. The King of Spain purchased the building in 1604 and made it a residence for the Spanish governors of Florida. It was used as such until the United States purchased Florida in 1821.

'LEFTY' HERMAN IS GREAT PUBLICITY FOR THIS CITY

Local Ball Player Gets Lots of Attention From the Sport Writers Over Country

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News

Floyd "Lefty" Herman, whose name has appeared in the columns of this and other southern California newspapers on numerous occasions during the past two baseball seasons, is fast becoming known as "the most talked of and promising rookie in America," according to the many reports which have recently appeared in sporting publications all over the country.

All the way from New York to San Francisco and from Chicago to New Orleans, the baseball scribes of practically every paper of any appreciable size have written at least one article on "The Glendale, California, High School Phenom."

The subject of all this comment is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Herman of 441 West Harvard street, this city. He has stirred the eastern sporting press during the past few weeks by his sensational performances, both at bat and on the field, with the Detroit American league team at its training camp at Augusta, Ga. Arriving at the Tigers' camp with the unique record of being a "rookie" holdout, he at once became the center of attraction for the veterans, scouts and writers, who were both skeptical and amused at the reported boasts and demands of "the unheard of Los Angeles sand lotter."

He Opens Their Eyes

Although Herman was given the "double o" more as a matter of curiosity than anything else, he soon opened the eyes of the old timers by more than fulfilling his apparently overdeveloped pre-season claims regarding his ability. Breaking in with Heilman, Cobb, et al., who are among the greatest hitters the national game has ever known, "Lefty" was even more handicapped than the average big league recruit. On the other hand, however, this fact seemed to increase his confidence and he proceeded to smack the ball to all corners of the field with reckless abandon, besides playing his position both at first base and the outfield in an irreproachable manner.

As Herman is but 20 years of age it is expected that Manager Ty Cobb will farm him to some minor league club for a little more complete "ripening" process prior to his becoming a regular in the big show, although there is a strong possibility that he will be retained on the Detroit payroll to act as a utility first sacker and outfielder.

Local Stars to Enter

A number of local golf stars are expected to enter the coming 1922 southern California amateur championship tournament, which is scheduled to take place next week at the Flintridge and Pasadena club courses. The arrangements of the individual matches and handicaps of the various entrants is in charge of the officials of the Southern California Amateur Golf association.

The players with the smallest handicaps will alternate on the two courses from day to day, the final round to be staged on the most difficult of the two. The opening round will take place on Tuesday morning, while the "finale" will be decided on the following Sunday.

Season Soon to Close

The management of the Tia Juana racing association, which has been staging the annual horse racing program at the border track for the past five years, has announced that the present season will be the longest continuous term of horse racing ever conducted in American sporting history.

The season will close on Sunday afternoon, April 23, which will be the final event of a 130-day meet.

Warden Has Faith in Honesty of Convicts

BUCYRUS, O. — "I would trust some of the inmates of the penitentiary to take a check on my personal account for several hundred dollars to the bank, knowing they would return safely with the money, and I know men outside the penitentiary whom I wouldn't trust that far," declared P. E. Thomas, warden of the Ohio penitentiary, addressing the Rotary club here.

Warden Thomas expressed belief that it would be better to use the inmates of the idle house at the penitentiary in making brick out of the abundant shale clay found in Ohio and to use other prisoners in improving with brick the various country roads throughout the state for the benefit of all its citizens rather than have the convicts waste their time in the idle house.

SHORTRIDGE FAVORS FEE

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Compulsory registration of all aliens in the United States upon payment of a fee of $24 a year was provided in a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Shortridge, republican, of California. Money thus collected would be turned over to the state for educational purposes. Shortridge said that the California schools would fe enriched to the extent of $8,000,000 a year if the bill became a law.

Peace hath her victories, but we have to fight pretty hard for them.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—According to the good word passed along by a man of indubitable authority the New York Yanks are now playing the worst baseball of any major league ball club in the south, those two Phila public charges not barred.

As champions they figure to repeat this season but as a group of debonair chumps, they will run worse than second, as surely as carbolic acid is unpalatable, it is to be hoped for the sake of Miller Huggins that their attitude is merely an attitude and hence, only temporary.

For the most part, it is neither necessary nor expedient for a ball club to play at top speed in southern exhibitions. However, there have been signs of a decay that may be permanent.

At third base the venerable Baker has placed both feet upon a very thin dime and absolutely declines to leave it for a moment; Aaron Ward, at second has shown a marked inability to range his left and even the work of Everett Scott, a fine shortstop, has been affected largely because Baker's lack of speed has thrown a ponderous burden upon the ex-Bostonians.

No champion ever repeated with such an infield as the Yanks now muster. The odds of the situation is that Baker looked to be in splendid condition when the writer saw him at New Orleans. It was a trifle early to judge him, however, for the Yanks had played no game with major league teams. Up to that time Baker is in the brown November days of his baseball life and that probably is the ultimate answer to the problem. He may be displaced before the opening of the season and then again, he may not be.

If a switch is made Ward will be brought to third where he belongs and Mike McNally sent to second base.

It is not exactly a comforting situation that Huggins faces and the attitude of the team as a whole hasn't improved matters. As for the others the pitchers aren't pitching and the hammers are not hitting. And, according to the best advices, you can't convince them that it isn't all a ludicrous mistake.

Sports Chatter

By Bill Unmack
Pacific Sports Service

Not for many years has the result of the annual track and field meet between the University of California and Stanford university, to be held at Berkeley on Saturday, April 15, been in such doubt. At the present writing it seems to be merely a matter of paying your money and taking your choice. For some years there has been practically no doubt as to which would be returned the victor, either California or Stanford having a decided edge. The uncertainty this season has created an interest that has been lacking for some time.

With Strangler Ed Lewis, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, slated to meet Earl Caddock on April 13 at Wichita, Kan., it is evident that Lewis is giving all the boys a crack at his title. In this respect the wrestlers generally are far more liberal than the boxers, the latter being extremely jealous of their title and difficult, at times, to be willing in any way to endanger their hold on it.

Some excellent polo has been played on the Pacific coast during the last two weeks and the number of injuries has practically been at a minimum, considering the risks involved. It looked as if providence had exerted a benign influence until the injury to Major W. A. Robertson, the Del Monte forward, a few days ago. Robertson's pony fell and rolled over on him. He was carried from the field unconscious. This is the worst accident that has happened and is practically the only one of any gravity. Coronado, where playing has been almost continual, went altogether unscathed.

With Cambridge the victor over the eight-oared crew of Oxford university, followers of college rowing are interested whether or not the winning English boat will be able to come over to this country to compete at the Poughkeepsie classic, and incidentally arrange for a few other races with American collegiate crews. On several occasions American college crews have gone across to row in the Henley regatta, but we have not yet seen a British crew in action here. The trip over here of the Cambridge crew would be a mighty popular move. It is not likely that any other event could stir up so widespread an interest throughout the country. With Princeton, Annapolis and one or two other extremely fast crews on the water, the Englishmen would probably find their hands full.

As an evangelist and a propounder of the gospel, the ministers evidently consider James J. Jeffries a good former heavyweight champion boxer of the world. James is having a lot of criticism leveled at him from parsons in various sections of the country. Jim is inclined to the belief that it is a case of professional jealousy. However, there are more ways than one to skin a cat and if Jim can save souls in his own peculiar manner, the members of the cloth should be glad to get the former fighter's co-operation. There is one thing about it, James is not undertaking the work to make money by it. Perhaps that may be some comfort to the brethren.

The World Over

By Franklin B. Morse
Pacific Sports Service

For the first time in its history, the clubs forming the Pacific Coast Baseball league will this year be playing for a cash emolument over and above their regular salaries. William H. McCarthy, president of the league, hit on the idea of assessing the eight clubs of the league a total of $20,000 which will be split among the seven teams finishing in those seven first places.

The fact that the teams will be striving for an additional cash remuneration is bound to have a good effect on the game generally. On this coast there are no post-season games such as the winners of the American and National leagues participate in. Through the agency of the annual "world series" the major league teams participate in a certain split of the money from these world series, the winner and loser, representing each league, naturally dividing the largest share. It was with this thought in mind, that of no post season game, that President McCarthy went to the bat to raise the $20,000 for the teams to play for.

The money will be split as follows: Winner, $6000; second team $4000; third team $3000; fourth team $2500; fifth team $2000; sixth team $1500 and seventh team $1000.

The trouble in the past with the Coast league has been that once a team has gained the lead and looks like a winner there is a lack of interest shown by the other teams. The way the money has been split will have a tendency to override this as each team will have a decided advantage in fighting to gain the position just above that it may be occupying at any time during the league race. Even the seventh and eighth teams will have an incentive to keep going as one or the other is going to be left on the division of the purse.

The $6000 to the winning team will cause plenty of fight among the leading teams of the league and in a like manner the teams in the other positions will be scrapping all through the season to get into a position where such placing will add an extra thousand or more to their earnings. The fact that the player limit has been made twenty men will insure each man getting a good and equitable split of the total amount his team will win.

President "Bill" McCarthy gained national prominence through the gambling activities of bookmakers, etc. It was his stand in this matter and his prompt dismissal of Tom Seaton and Casey Smith, leading pitchers of the San Francisco team for "the good of the game" in May, 1920, that first brought McCarthy prominently before the baseball public of the country. Since that time he has raised the standards of the Pacific Coast league to a high level and his bonus project of giving the teams something to strive for will probably be taken up eventually by minor leagues in other parts of the county. What Judge Landis is to major ball, Bill McCarthy is to baseball on the Pacific coast.

State Pays High to Find Value of Dog

OWOSSO—What is the value of a three-legged dog? A jury is trying to decide, and it is costing the county $100 a day to have them do it.

Can a three-legged dog chase rabbits just as well as one with standard equipment?

Arthur Brown claims the loss of a leg hampered his dog in hunting and has brought suit for $100 against George Akin, whom he accuses of having shot a leg off his prize hunting dog when it came on the Aiken farm.

Counsel for Aiken claims a dog can run just as fast on three legs.

FINDS BASS ARE HUNGRY

ELYRIA, Ohio—That this has been an ideal winter for a record bass catching season is the assertion made by Steve Stevenson.

Steve caught sixty-seven bass in one day in the Vermillion river.

He claims his 4¾ pounds smallmouthed bass is Ohio's largest catch during the past seven years.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of disfress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases.—Advertisement.

HUMAN VOICE DOES NOT TRAVEL VIA AIR: CLAIMED

It's Electrical Vibrations That Are Set In Motion, Then Aerial Catches Them

By GEORGE VAN SANDS,
Radio Editor, The Evening News.

As quite a few of our readers who are just becoming interested in radio desire to be informed as to a little more of the theory, than simply that the human voice is transmitted through the air without wires—which, by the way, is not exactly correct—I will briefly sketch for their benefit the fundamental theory of wireless telephony.

Throwing a stone into a pond of water is the usual illustration. It creates a series of waves—a small stone, small waves and close together; a big stone, big waves and farther apart. The same principle is involved in the electrical vibrations that are set in motion through the so-called ether by the human voice at a transmitting station.

These electrical vibrations travel through the ether at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, which Einstein, of mathematical fame, claims is the fastest thing on record. Figuring a meter as 39 inches, changes this to 300,000,000 meters per second. In ordinary language, a wave length is considered to be the distance between the peak of each wave of the vibrations.

Have Certain Limit

Broadcasting stations use certain wave lengths. Waves in customary use being from 150 meters to 20,000 meters, which represent all the way from 2,000,000 to 15,000 per second. Our ear drums have just a certain limit. No sound can be heard whose vibration is less than 40 per second, nor could any sound be heard whose sound vibration exceeded 10,000 per second.

So the real big discovery in wireless telephony was certain apparatus that would bring down these electrical vibrations that were traveling too fast for the human ear to detect them, change them into sound waves, so that they would register in our ear drums. So, as a matter of fact, it is not the human voice that travels through the air; it is the electrical vibrations that are set in motion by your voice through an electrically controlled transmitter.

It is these same electrical vibrations that come in contact with the aerial, which brings them down into your receiver, whose purpose is to tune-in to the same wave length as the voice that is being broadcasted, and to transform those electrical vibrations into sound vibrations so that you actually hear the voice, just as plain, if not plainer, than you do over the ordinary telephone.

Club Idea Takes

These sound vibrations can be connected into a sound box, which is nothing other than the ordinary sound box on a talking machine or phonograph, and the voice can be made loud or soft as suits you.

We believe the idea of forming a radio club will materialize. This was mentioned through this column several days ago, and already we have received a number of very good suggestions for forming such a club among the radio enthusiasts of Glendale.

Do not hesitate to send in your ideas and suggestions on the subject.

Value of Trade Name Demonstrated Here

When a customer walks into a store and purchases nearly $200 worth of merchandise and orders a particular brand of goods without asking as to price or guarantee, that party evidently knows the reliability back of the trade name.

Just such an experience is reported this week by R. B. Tapp, branch manager of the Automobile Tire company's store at 211 South Brand boulevard. Certainly he was agreeably surprised when a starnger walked in and said:

"Please give me four 33 by 4 Canton cords and four of the best tubes you have in the same size."

After having completed the order, Mr. Tapp learned that Mr. Littrell, the purchaser, was from Pittsburg, Pa., and that he had used Canton cords for some time. The ones being replaced had been driven more than 5000 miles around Pittsburg before the heavy machine headed west last winter. That entailed another 5000 miles of wear and tear and, in addition to that, the side trips in southern California have run the total mileage far above the guarantee of any tire.

It was while motoring through Glendale that he noticed the Automobile Tire company handled this line and he returned this week to be re-equipped for the return trip. He was not aware of the fact that the Auto Tire company has stores in Los Angeles as well as other principal coast cities.

Mr. Tapp says that if the motorists of Glendale could have heard Mr. Littrell praise Canton cords, he would have to order more than a carload at a time to take care of the demand.

ONE HEN KEEPING BUSY

BUCHTEL, Ohio—A world-beater—at least, in this part of the world—is the claim made by Jake Kirkendall for his 3-year-old Rhode Island Red hen. Kirkendall claims this hen laid twenty-one eggs in December, twenty in January, fifteen in February and six during the first seven days this month, after which date the hen started in to "set."

That fruity, winey tang is found only in Fru-Ber-ree', the new Sierra Club beverage de luxe at soda fountains.—Adv. 4-8

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Can you explain the method of computing the wave length in a receiving set?—T. N. P., Glendale.

Answer: This could not be done without a knowledge of the capacity of your receiving set together with the capacity of your antenna and your "ground" and very few have the necessary apparatus, to say nothing of the highly technical knowledge to measure with any degree of accuracy the constants of their antennae, and even after you had gone to all this trouble you would have no assurance that it would remain so. There is a wave length meter on the market, it is very complicated and expensive. There would be practically no occasion for you to compute the wave length unless you were in the commercial field.

Question: What is the best method to adopt to lengthen the life of the detector and amplifier vacuum tubes?—G. F., Glendale.

Answer: There is a very good fuse on the market that is attached to the filiment terminals. Or get a voltmeter, watch your tube and see what voltage is registered when you are getting best results, and then be careful not to ever exceed this voltage.

Question: Does the government issue any publication on radio?—M. D. F., Eagle Rock.

Answer: "Radio Laws and Regulations" is printed and issued by the government. To secure a copy, write the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. The price is 15 cents, but do not make the mistake of sending Uncle Sam postage—he won't take it.

Question: I am making a receiving set for my own use. Should I make certain apparatus that might infringe on certain patents, would I get into trouble?—G. M. B., Glendale.

Answer: It would take a couple of good patent lawyers, a judge and a jury in a United States court to answer this query. The Evening News cannot advise you to break the law, should this be construed as a violation. It is very difficult to make a receiving set without making at least one part of it on which patents are held, and yet the magazines ,and literature of supply houses are replete with information, illustrations and diagrams as to how to make "your own."

Question: Where is the best place to buy a storage battery to use on a wireless set?—R. C. H., Glendale.

Answer: While this column is not run for advertising purposes, I strongly recommend that you patronize some one of the several battery dealers here in Glendale. They all have batteries for this purpose, their prices are as cheap as anywhere.

CLEOPATRA'S FAME FADES TO LURES OF THEODORA

Nile Vamp Owes Prominence to Press Agents; New Claimant to Honors in Love

For years and years throughout the ages, the name of Cleopatra has echoed down the corridors of time as the symbol of seductiveness, the emblem of tempestuous love, the most sensational siren who ever vamped a hero in the pages of history.

Cleopatra had a bunch of press agents. Shakespeare wrote about her; Caesar and Mark Antony gave her a lot of valuable time.

But—

There was another woman who lived several hundred years after Cleopatra who could have given her cards and spades and then defeated her in the game of love.

Woman of Many Loves

Compared to this other woman, Cleopatra was a baby in arms. Theodora, empress of the Roman empire, deserves a place n the Temple of Fame far more prominent than that of Cleopatra.

Theodora, daughter of a lion tamer in a circus, was acclaimed the most beautiful and fascinating young person of ancient Byzantium, and finally capped the climax of her marvelous career by marrying the emperor Justinian and becoming empress of the east, sole ruler of the civilized world.

If you would see this marvelous woman Theodora reincarnated by the magic of the silver screen, recreated and born anew in the most gigantic motion picture spectacle the world has ever known, then see "Theodora" at the Glendale theatre tonight.

Lady Bandit Waylays Men and Takes Cash

ELYRIA, O.—Police have been unable to apprehend the woman who has been accosting men in isolated spots, throwing her arms about them and picking their pockets.

E. F. Boyer is the latest victim of this woman hold-up. He missed $37 and pursued the woman, who, while the sprint was on, gave up a wad of bills. Investigation later disclosed that the woman had taken $22 from the roll before returning it to Boyer.

Two weeks prior to this incident another man was robbed of $40 by the same woman, it is claimed.

RADIO EXPLAINED

INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL

ALTERNATING CURRENT

An alternating current of electricity is one which increases and decreases in strength periodically in first one direction of flow, then the opposite. If the directions of flow are changed 120 times every second there are, of course, 120 current alterations per second. If it is continuous alternating current the maximum strengths in each direction of flow are all the same. Two alternations make one cycle of current-flow, so that if there are 120 alterations per second there are 60 cycles. In ordinary house lighting circuits 60 cycle alternating current is quite common. It is a commercial frequency. In many radio transmitters, however, it is necessary to use a current which alternates at the rate of 1000 times per second. The frequency in cycles in this case is 500 per second. The current might not continue for as long a time as one second, but if the alternations are at the rate of 1000 per second the frequency is 500 cycles.

Machines used to produce alternating current in an electrical circuit are called alternators or alternating current generators. As long as the electrical circuit is complete, the alternating current will continue to flow.

In radio work alternating currents of extremely high frequency are commonly used. They may easily be anywhere from 10,000 to 1,000,000 or more cycles per second. Such very high frequencies are called radio frequencies and the currents are radio frequency currents. The lower frequencies are also used to a large extent, in certain classes of radio work.

LETTERED BINDING POSTS

Many builders of their own radio sets find it very difficult to engrave their panels with the desired legends. An enterprising manufacturer has, therefore, heeded the saying that "necessity is the mother of invention" and brought out a complete line of lettered binding posts and knobs.

No matter what the posts are to be used for there is one for each purpose. For example, there are posts with knobs lettered ANT for an antenna connection, GND for a ground connection, A BAT—for the negative "A" battery terminal, A BAT X for the positive terminal, and so forth.

The posts themselves are well made and the machine screws sufficiently long to pass through the usual sizes of sheet insulating material. The lettering of the knobs is carefully engraved, not stamped, and should retain its legibility for a considerable length of time.

Considering their usefulness the posts are very inexpensive and will probably find widespread favor with radio enthusiasts who prefer the enjoyment of making their own to purchasing ready-made sets.

Actor, Willing to Go As Baggage, Caught

TIFTON, Ga.—The story of stranded actors being forced to walk back to home and friends is an old one, but it remained for a member of a troupe stranded in Willacoochee, near here, to evolve something new.

The company had played Willacoochee, but apparently without the necessary financial success to enable one man, a member of the company, to get to Atlanta as a paid passenger on a train.

Recalling that members of the company who paid their passage were entitled to carry baggage without extra charge, the man in question decided to go as "baggage." Accordingly he had himself packed into a trunk preparatory to being loaded aboard a train.

Everything looked rosy until a policeman heard a chance remark by a member of the company and investigated.

IS NOMINATED BY HARDING

WASHINGTON, April 7.—President Harding has re-appointed A. O. Wharton of Missouri, J. H. Elliott of Texas, and G. Wallace and W. H. Hanger of Washington as members of the United States railway labor board. The three men represent the employes, managers and public, respectively. The nominations were sent to the senate and are expected to be confirmed immediately. The president also nominated Albert S. Sittell to be United States marshal for the southern district of California.

SHOOT MAN AND WIFE

CHICAGO, April 7.—Fighting off six armed men, who attempted to rob his delicatessen store, John J. Colby, 50, was shot three times and probably fatally wounded and his wife was shot twice.

Electric Lights Fool Hens Into Triple Work

MEDINA, O.—George Burr, poultry man, has devised a novel scheme whereby hens are deluded into increased egg production. The use of electric lights in his hennery, declares Burr, has resulted in the tripling of the number of eggs he receives daily.

"Electric lights fooled the hens into triple work," states Burr. "I allow the chickens a sleeping period, then turn on the lights in the middle of the night. The hens think it is daytime and are thus fooled into laying twice a day."

From the same number of hens Burr says he collected 3489 eggs in January, as against 1154 in the same month of 1921.

Would Reclaim Land Worth Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON—One billion dollars' worth of property will be reclaimed under the $350,000,000 McNary irrigation bill, according to reclamation leaders in the senate.

Supporters of the bill, which provides for the irrigation of arid waste lands and the drainage of swamp lands, declare that all previous government projects have resulted in the recovery of lands worth three times the money spent in salvage. Their statements are borne out by government records.

To date, it was shown, the government has spent $130,000,000 on arid and swamp lands. This reclamation work restored approximately 1,000,000 acres of land in the south and west. This land, according to Federal estimates, is now valued at $500,000,000. Crops raised on the reclaimed areas up until 1922 had a value of $400,000,000.

The government's records of reclaimed territories produce interesting statistics. It is shown that 223 towns have been built on the salvaged land and more than 32,800 farms occupied. There is a total population of 450,000 people on the land, which formerly consisted of arid deserts or huge boggy swamps.

All modern conveniences have been instituted in reclaimed areas, it is shown. There are 879 schools and 649 churches on these areas, according to government records.

Prosperity also seems to have followed the reclaimer, for the records show that 247 banks have been established on reclaimed land. These banks, it is added, have deposits totaling $143,539,856 and are growing.

Some people marry for love, some for money, and some simply because they crave excitement.

LOCAL LAWYERS IN FIGHT TO UPHOLD 'SAMPLE BILL'

Bar Association Takes Action to Sustain Measure on Trust Company Wills

Declaring that they are launching a fight to protect widows, children and other beneficiaries of wills from the practice of trust companies and banks whom, they assert, are drawing instruments highly beneficial to themselves, members of the California Bar association, southern division, opened a spirited campaign yesterday to defeat the so-called "trust company referendum," which will appear on the ballot at the November election.

Attorneys C. M. Frazier and I. Henry Harris of Glendale, members of the campaign committee in the south, following a meeting at which the action was taken, said that some astounding revelations as to wills drawn by trust companies would be forthcoming, and expressed the belief that the people would sustain the legal fraternity when the facts were known.

Tells of Sample Bill

"Through the efforts of the members of the Bar Association of California, a bill was passed by the legislature and signed by the governor last year, which prohibits trust companies and corporations from drawing wills," said Attorney Frazier in a statement to The Glendale Evening News. "This was known as the Sample bill, introduced by Senator Sample of San Diego and was openly advocated by all members of the legal profession, with the exception of those in the employ of trust companies. Through the efforts of the trust companies, this statute has been referred to the people. The banks and interested corporations have already spent thousands of dollars fighting the bill and in bringing about the referendum. We propose to defeat the referendum and to reinstate the Sample bill as a law of this state.

"No less a person than Elihu Root, who is in San Francisco at the present time, has declared that trust company practice in drawing wills is reprehensible. There is ample evidence to show that the people are not being properly safeguarded as long as these vital instruments are being drawn by institutions that have every selfish interest to serve and little or no ethical standards to follow.

Put Clause in Wills

"Corporations, such as banks and trust companies, are not allowed to invest their own funds except in certain classes of securities permitted by law, but they put a clause in the wills they draw providing that the trust company may invest money, property, stocks and bonds of a deceased person whose will they draw; and that it may be invested in any property whether or not the transaction is permissible by law, which is one of the most astounding clauses ever devised by a presumably responsible corporation.

"There is also another almost incredible clause in trust company wills which provides that the trust company may sell its own securities to the estate which it holds in trust, or may buy securities from that same trust and re-invest them. The rule of law for the protection of the public that a trustee may not sell his own private securities to a trust estate is thus completely swept aside. These trustees, while jeopardizing seriously such trusts, are not wholly satisfied with this procedure, but insert an additional clause fixing their compensation on a percentage basis for the handling of the estate, thus taking this phase of the transaction out of the hands of the peoples' courts where the fixing of compensation in these trust matters indubitably belongs."

BUSINESS MEN OF EAST SIDE FORM ORGANIZATION

pretty rotten. It seems to me that you ought to have made some effort to come to some agreement with the railroad. If you could get the railroad off the street, we would all be with you."

Attorney Levey estimated that the expense of paving Glendale avenue would amount to $8 or $10 a front foot and that other things should be done to improve the thoroughfare before saddling this expense upon the property owners. He asserted that he would circulate a counter-petition and guaranteed as many signers against the paving as for it.

Keep Cool, Is Urged

Harry G. MacBain of 636 East Broadway stated that if obstruction were to be offered to the paving of Glendale avenue it might as well be met now as later.

"I hope we will all keep cool heads," remarked C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, who presided. "Personally, I would like to see harmony and co-operation between these two groups."

Councilman S. A. Davis suggested that the organization would do well to get the details of the paving settled and the real opinion of the property owners in regard to the matter before presenting the petitions to the city council.

After some discussion the matter was laid upon the table until a committee might take the matter of paving up with the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association at its meeting next Friday night.

Report of the postoffice committee was submitted by its chairman, Charles E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street, who recommended the circulation of petitions for the establishment of a branch postoffice near the intersection of Broadway and Glendale avenue.

This report was accepted after some discussion. Other members of this committee were Dr. Henry R. Harrower, R. M. Brown of 416 North Kenwood street and R. Lee Hill.

Postoffice Building

Announcement was made by Mr. Stuart that he knew a building suitable for a branch postoffice was under contemplation for Glendale avenue and that a man had already been selected to take charge of it and install the fixtures. He suggested the immediate installation of a parcel mail box on Glendale avenue.

"Things look brighter in regard to the hotel than they have at any time yet," declared Mr. Ingledue, following a remark by Herman Nelson of 641 East Harvard street, that Anthony Ambrosini had come forward with "a very favorable proposition."

After brief discussion on the advisability of protesting the proposed license ordinance, a committee was appointed to be present at last night's meeting of the city council. Those selected were R. M. Brown, George McLeod of 1345 East Colorado street and W. E. Mercer of 604A East Broadway.

J. C. Sherer of 717 South Verdugo road, secretary of the Eastside Welfare Association, suggested the appointment of a committee to confer with a committee from his association in regard to the merging of the two organizations. His invitation to the next meeting of the Eastside Welfare Association was received with pleasure. Those appointed on this committee were P. J. Hayselton, John P. Lambert and M. H. Woodbury of 1000 Orange Grove avenue.

Jury Tampering Exposed
Soldier Relief Tied in Knots
Funny How We Forget
Now They 'Teach' Journalists

By Gil A. Cowan

SOMETHING new in annals of court procedure in California appeared this week in the Burch trial when prospective jurors identified two investigators, indirectly employed by the district attorney's office, as having made impossible an impartial trial.

When this was revealed, Judge Reeve took charge in a most commendatory way and both the prosecution and defense attorneys immediately took steps to clear up the situation. It was the first time the practice of jury tampering had been revealed and this instance may serve as a lesson.

And let it be said that Malcolm McLaren, a respected citizen of Glendale, who is the principal of the agency involved, has been sick since last September and has had nothing to do with what all agree to be a "disgraceful attempt to interfere with justice."

No money is available to meet the pledges of the state toward paying the expenses of veterans in schools and colleges, Robert W. Smith, secretary of the Veterans' Welfare Board of California, states in an interview with the International News Service.

The state supreme court has deferred decision on the constitutionality of the soldier legislation until re-argument can be heard at the May session of the court. In the meantime 800 veterans attending California schools will have to seek means of earning a livelihood without being properly fitted, it is said.

From some sources comes the word that the American Legion is making itself felt. Surely such conditions as just related would make any fighting man fighting mad. It is hard enough to win the little aid from the government without having it tied into knots by lawyers.

The public is prone to forget mighty easy. The fifth anniversary of America's declaration of war on Germany passed in the national capital almost unnoticed. In 1917 the country throbbed with suppressed emotion over going into the world conflict and congress prepared to rush plans for hundred-fold increase in the army and navy.

And now the largest controversy in congress is over efforts to cut the army to 115,000 men and the navy to 65,000 men. The soldiers' bonus, tariff, and factional rows are the big news.

Yes, five years ago it was "our heroes" and today it is "the unemployed."

Funny how people forget!

Journalism is going to be "taught" in the University of California's summer session.

From advance notices the course sounds very fine, but the principal demand seems to be for instruction in dramatic criticism.

There you have the ideal field for the journalistic school student. They want all of the entertainment, all of the colorful work, but none of the drudgery.

If the University of California would "teach" a class how to go out and garner two columns of personal items every morning; and then be able to turn out two columns more of news in the afternoon, that institution would supply a real demand on the part of the publishers of papers in the average town.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL BALL TEAM LOSES TO MONROVIA

Glendale Drops Game, Score 7 to 2, Shaw Brothers Greatly Assisting

By HOWARD M'GILLIS,
Sporting Editor The Evening News.

Getting beat by Monrovia High school seems to be more or less of a habit with local high school athletes who, in addition to their 7 to 2 baseball defeat suffered yesterday afternoon, have come out second best during the last few months in football, basketball and track. And the Glendalians have no alibis, either, as they have been completely outclassed by the Green and White performers in each of their four meetings.

As usual, yesterday's victory was largely a triumph for the Shaw brothers, the two-colored phenoms who have done more toward putting Monrovia on the athletic map than any other pair of athletes in the history of the school. E. Shaw, the more famous of the two, contributed to the victory by playing a bangup game in center field and cracking out a single and a home run in five trips to the plate. His smaller brother's activities are confined to the pitcher's box, where he let Coach Butterfield's sluggers down with but five hits and a total of thirteen strikeouts. Quite an afternoon's work for such a small family.

The contest, which was a regularly scheduled Central League affair, was staged on the Monrovia field before a crowd of 500 spectators. It was the second straight defeat suffered by the Glendale nine, practically eliminating all chances for winning the pennant.

Big Chance for Locals

Glendale's one big chance came in the first half of the eighth inning, when Fruhling, Green and Wilson cluttered up the bases with but one out. Geib, who had earlier in the season established himself as the team's slugger, was the next batter. Everything looked rosy for a Glendale victory, which at that time meant but three runs. However, Geib failed to rise to the occasion and fanned out for the third consecutive time of the day. Terzo, the next man at bat, sent an easy fly to center field.

John Server, who was substituted at the last minute for Morgan, who was unable to play, played an excellent game behind the bat. Although it was his first appearance on the first team lineup, he did his bit by crashing out two hits in four attempts besides playing flawless ball on the receiving end.

Pete Fruhling, Glendale's able-bodied shortstop, made up for his poor showing last week by covering his part of the infield in spectacular fashion, getting two hits in three times at bat and scoring one of his team's two runs. He was ably assisted in the infield by "Sparkplug" Wilson at second base.

Harrower Laboratory Celebrates Birthday

The fourth anniversary of the founding of the Harrower Laboratory was celebrated last night in its assembly hall by members of the Harrower family and about 200 physicians from Los Angeles county.

Following a speech by Dr. Henry R. Harrower, outlining the progress of the institution and observations during his recent trip east, he was presented a basket of flowers in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. V. Ackerman, librarian of the laboratory, read a book review from The American Journal of Clinical Medicine upon Dr. Harrower's latest book, "Practical Organotherapy."

James Howarth, business manager, explained briefly the research work of the institution and emphasized its motto, "Service to the Profession."

Mrs. Durham Porter Is Hostess to Chapter

The members of Chapter CJ, P. E. O., of which Mrs. Vernon Putman is president, was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Durham Porter, 517 West Doran street, with Mrs. A. A. Barton as assisting hostess. The greater part of the day was spent in sewing for charity. At noon a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. In the afternoon a program was given, consisting of a very fine paper given by Mrs. W. M. Kimball, the subject of which was "Temperance in Opinion." Mrs. Vernon Putman and Mrs. J. T. Crampton will be delegates at the P. E. O. state convention to be held next week in Pasadena.

VARIED VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM OFFERED AT T. D. & L.

Unusually Good Bill Is Now Being Presented; All-Star Cast In Picture

Particularly fortunate are the theatre-goers of Glendale who attend the T. D. & L. theatre today and tomorrow. The vaudeville road show which Meiklejohn & Dunn have arranged for this week is an unusually good one.

The Del Roy Brothers are vaudeville's greatest exponents of the dance and these two "syncopated steppers" offer a cycle of hard and soft shoe dances as well as the buck and wing.

Musical Walsh, better known as the musical chef, extracts music from ordinary kitchen utensils, such as pots, pans and plates. Dan Cervo and Nat Morello are musicians of unusual ability. Mr. Cervo is a wizard when it comes to playing the accordion and his partner is quite as good with the violin.

Married life is said to be a serious thing, but Harry and Leota Lorraine have a little playlet which they call "Just Married Life" that contains any number of laughs.

'The Song of Life'

On the screen, the photoplay "The Song of Life," will be shown. This is a picture of unusual interest and features an all-star cast, particularly Georgia Woodthrope (Mrs. William T. Wallace of Glendale), the picture-mother. She will attend the T. D. & L. theatre presentation of "The Song of Life" Saturday evening. A party of thirty friends of the famous actress will be present to acclaim her wonderful work as the mother of this strong feature film.

can consider the appointment of my successor, the resignation may take effect at your pleasure. Otherwise, I prefer to have it take effect at once.

"Respectfully,
"BERT P. WOODARD."

Received With Regret

When the resignation was read in open meeting of the council last night, Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson stated that the administration was extremely sorry to have Mr. Woodard leave, as the relationship had been very pleasant and satisfactory.

Councilman A. H. Lapham also expressed regret at Mr. Woodard's resignation and said that, speaking personolly, Mr. Woodard could stay in the office of city attorney as long as he desired.

After announcing his resignation, Mr. Woodard stated he plans to open offices in the Central building, 111A East Broadway, which is now being remodeled by its owners as an office building.

"I plan to open the offices in about fifteen days," said Mr. Woodard. "Attorney James F. McBryde will be in the same offices. There will not, however, be a partnership; we will simply occupy the same offices. I will also retain my offices in Los Angeles and plan to divide my time between Glendale and that city."

Hartley Shaw, new city attorney, is no stranger to the position. He was president of the board of city trustees, then named city attorney and resigned shortly after the charter went into effect and a new city administration was elected. His successor was Mr. Woodard, who was chairman of the board of freeholders drawing up the charter under which Glendale now operates.
